At Teeling Whiskey we believe in driving the evolution of Irish Whiskey through the creation of unconventional and unique expressions. As part of this innovative mission we have developed a family of Small Batch Collaborations aimed at capturing the spirit between like-minded mavericks of their trade. Our latest release with Belgian Brewery Duvel Moortgat captures the unique influence of a number of their Belgian Golden Ale casks on the further maturation of our flagship Small Batch Blend. The result is something wholly unique, reinforcing our ambition to craft and create the most interesting of Irish Whiskeys!

DUVEL

Duvel Moortgat is a family owned brewery that has been making world-class natural Belgian beers since 1871. Along with their rich history, they continue to blaze a trail of innovation and recently released a Teeling Whiskey barrel-aged beer. To continue our journey of discovery we received barrels used to produce their award-winning Belgian Golden ale, which, when used to give extra maturation to our Teeling Small Batch, celebrates the best of Belgian Brewing and Irish Distilling Traditions in this special release. Duvel Belgian Golden Ale casks impart a range of notes, including orange peel and distinct notes of coriander and allspice. Our Small Batch whiskey has captured a significant amount of these aromas and flavours, creating a wholly unique whiskey, filled with natural character.
